Educational materials were developed through the Teaching American History in Baltimore City Program, a partnership between the Baltimore City Public School System and the Center for History Education at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County.

Resource Sheet #2

Analyzing the Documents
Continuity or Change: African Americans in World War II

Directions: Using the documents that you assessed on the worksheet, "Assessing the Documents," use the following chart to analyze what the information the documents give you as an historian. Be sure to list the documents in which you found each conclusion you make. Think about economic, political, social and cultural parts of life (i.e., what jobs were open to African Americans during the war? Were African Americans treated equally on the job? Could African Americans make as much money as whites?)

Positive Things for African Americans During World War II	From What Document/s Did You Draw This Conclusion?	Negative Things for African Americans During World War II	From What Document/s Did You Draw This Conclusion?

Educational materials were developed through the Teaching American History in Baltimore City Program, a partnership between the Baltimore City Public School System and the Center for History Education at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County.

Positive Things for African Americans During World War II	From What Document/s Did You Draw This Conclusion?	Negative Things for African Americans During World War II	From What Document/s Did You Draw This Conclusion?